

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

A capsule device that will contain a transmitter and power unit that will emit a location/distress signal using satellite or other communication system. After being swallowed, the capsule device will emit a signal 5 identifying the location of the individual, without enemy forces being aware that such a signal is being emitted.